

NorseBoat 21.5 – Classic Lines, Modern Craft

21.5 Cabin & Open Models, Engineered For High Performance & Ease of Use

The NorseBoat 21.5 Cabin and Open models have classic lines and exceptional performance. At the dock they attract a crowd. Under sail their efficient hull shape and rig make them stable, well balanced and responsive.

NorseBoats are built to exacting standards by a joint venture between NorseBoat, Lyman-Morse Boatbuilding, Hallett Canvas & Sails, and Fawcett Designs. These companies are now collaborating to market, build, and outfit the NorseBoat line of small craft, including the NorseBoat 12.5 and 17.5 sailing and rowing cruisers.

NorseBoat styling and sailing performance are superb. The 21.5 models have recognizable NorseBoat features such as the lapstrake hull, abundant cockpit seating and storage space, pivoting carbon mast, fully-battened mainsail with signature curved head, and furling genoa mounted on a bowsprit. The lapstrake hull transitions to smooth below waterline, and the sleek lines and powerful sail plan give the 21.5 models a competitive edge.

Another trademark of the NorseBoat 21.5 is the ease of use. It can be single-handed, is eminently trailerable, and can be rigged by one or two people in about 15 minutes. It goes in and out of the water effortlessly, and can be towed by a modest-size vehicle.

The 21.5 Cabin and Open models have the same innovative fiberglass hull. The Cabin model has a fiberglass interior and deck. The Open model has a wood/epoxy composite deck with varnished wood coaming, similar to the NorseBoat 12.5 and 17.5 models.

The NorseBoat 21.5 is relatively lightweight, with a sailing displacement-to-length ratio of 150. A ballasted foil-shaped stub keel, modest-size pivoting centerboard and kick-up rudder provide good stability with shallow draft. The spacious cockpit seats eight and has large storage lockers for gear.

The sail-away price is $39,995 for the Open model and $49,995 for the Cabin model. A wide range of options are available, including bimini, dodger, mooring or storage cover, and camping tent that encloses the cockpit for cruising.
